

Goals

Our agency's overall goal is to make the job-hunting task smooth and comfortable. To also ensure clients are finding long term careers that they find fulfillment and enjoyment in. We want to prevent parents from "job-hopping" to merely fulfill court ordered seek work requirements, instead to find a career and passion they will commit to, thus providing long-time support for their children.

What we offer...

Online Applications

With many companies switching to online applications to streamline the onboarding process, our agency can offer tools to assist parents with navigating these online job boards.

Along with online applications, many employers prefer a resume and cover letter. Our agency will also assist with building and providing feedback for these documents.

The Right Job

A number of companies are also using personality assessments as a new approach to finding the right candidate for the position, along with the team they would be working alongside. These assessments also provide self-insight to what career path an individual will not only find success in, but enjoy long-term.

An Alternate Approach

Our agency will also meet with local employers and gather information regarding their open positions, application process, and further career development techniques within the organization. This will help our clients see what their future at a company could hold. By working with the employers and the candidates we offer a professionally dedicated source to obtain information for both parties.

What are my career goals? Where do I see myself in 5 years? How can I provide for my children? If these are questions you continue to ask yourself, but feel stuck without an answer, let us help you.
